Regal Graphics (Div. of Regal Plastics Co.) is proud to announce that it will reach Authorized Distributor status with MacDermid Autotype for their Autoflex, Autotex and Autostat High Performance Film Systems and the ancillary printable products Windotex, Fototex and Print & Peel beginning in 2017.

Over the last 18 months, in response to a growing demand from the market to have additional supply options, Regal Graphics and MacDermid Autotype have built a strong relationship servicing our common customer's needs. Regal Graphics has been operating successfully as an authorized reseller of select types and gauges of the High Performance Film Systems product line.

A recent announcement by MacDermid Autotype outlined a broad corporate restructuring and specifically detailed the High Performance Film Systems (formally "Industrial Films") are now part of MacDermid Enthone Solutions. Through this transformation, MacDermid will bring pre-converted film products in a few select sizes into the North American market from Wantage, England and will no longer provide on-demand conversion services. With our extensive network of facilities across the U.S., combined with the addition of the complete line of Autotype High Performance Film Systems products and local conversion/distribution facilities, Regal Graphics will play a critical role in offering customers the widest availability of products in types, custom sizes and order quantity options of Autotype brand film products.

Regal Graphics is also happy to announce the addition of Jim Boeshans to our organization. Jim comes to Regal Graphics from MacDermid Autotype where he excelled in the roles of North American Business Manager and most recently as Global Marketing and New Business Development Manager stationed in the United Kingdom. His new role at Regal Graphics is Business Manager / Industrial Films. Jim will focus on making this business transition as smooth as possible for our customers and be a technical resource on staff for the High Performance Film Systems product line.

Regal Graphics looks forward to another exciting year in 2017, continuing to provide the best high end graphic film products available for all consumers, supported by the highest level of service available in North America.
